minutes matter

better maps save lives

Become a champion for GIS coordination and you could be saving more than just taxpayers' money.

www.fgdc.org

www.nsgic.org

Are all levels of government working together in your state to create maps that save lives? THERE IS A CRITICAL NEED to coordinate GIS activities. Coordination eliminates waste and improves efficiency.

There are thousands of government agencies carrying out the day-to-day tasks of reducing crime, enhancing public safety, containing costs, managing growth, improving accountability and protecting the environment. Nearly all of them rely on geographic information systems (GIS) technology to make decisions that directly affect citizens and determine our quality of life.

Be a LEADER in your community...become a champion for GIS coordination. Find out how by visiting http://50states.nsgic.org.

For more information, contact:

National States Geographic Information Council
2105 Laurel Bush Road, Suite 200
Bel Air, Maryland 21015
443-640-1075 . www.nsgic.org

Federal Geographic Data Committee
www.fgdc.gov